

SWAA Post Office Box

The SWAA P.O. Box in New York was inadvertently closed in December, resulting in mail being returned. Also, an overflow batch of mail from September-October which we didn't realize was being held in a back office was also returned when the box was closed. The problems have been corrected and the box is now open. Please, please re-send any mail that was returned to you. We deeply apologize for what was, in the end, our error. We have to pay for the box in December, and the payment was late.
